

The Civic Action Exhibit is a showcase of local grassroots organizations and the work they are doing to improve Charleston. It allows people to see and understand the different type of work that local citizen groups are doing of their own initiative to improve the city.

The exhibition's opening will be the evening of June 25th 2009 from 5:30 pm until 8:00 pm, with verbal presentations starting at 6:30 pm. Eleven different organizations developed a showcase piece and will present a short five minute presentation around the following question: "What is the most promising opportunity to improve our community, and what action will your organization take to make a difference"

The graphic presentation consists of individual boards designed by each of the eleven different organizations. The boards offer an opportunity for each organization to display who they are, and what work they are doing in Charleston.

Each group will give a brief five minute presentation the night of the opening. It will be a chance for each organization's members to talk about the work they do and reply to the main question of the exhibit.

The list of participating organizations includes:

Architecture for Humanity | Charleston
 Charleston Arts Coalition
 Charleston Horticultural Society
 Charleston Miracle League
 Charleston Moves
 Fields to Families

Holy City Bike Co-op
 Louie's Kids
 Lowcountry Earth Force
 Pecha Kucha Charleston
 Pour it Now

Following the opening, the exhibition is free and open for viewing weekdays from 9 am to 5 pm from June 26th until August 7th at the Charleston Civic Design Center located at 85 Calhoun Street. Additionally, throughout course of the exhibit each organization will be given an opportunity to host their own event at the Civic Design Center.
